ABOUT

I'm a Creative Technologist and Graphic Designer based in Milan, 22. I build AI pipelines, design interfaces, and work at the intersection of creative production and engineering. I'm drawn to problems where design thinking and technical depth are both required — and I pick up tools fast. Currently finishing a degree in Graphic Design & Art Direction while shipping production AI systems for real creative workflows.

Creative Technology — GenAI & Creative Production

- Designed and built an end-to-end AI video intelligence pipeline for Frame.io: Google Gemini watches each video and auto-generates structured, searchable metadata from a large untagged archive.
- Developed the companion web dashboard — search, filter, and browse across the full catalog — and Framey, a natural language chatbot for conversational video discovery.
- Built and maintained generative AI workflows (image and video) for campaign creative production, integrating multi-model pipelines into post-production processes.
- Worked alongside art directors, producers, and engineers on live campaigns — bridging creative direction and technical implementation.
